

The First Fleet

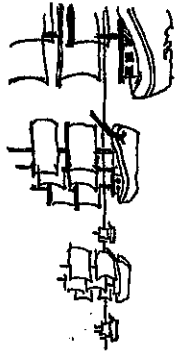

Cut and paste these sentences in the correct order.

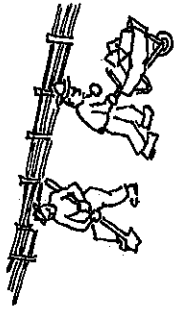

After nine months of sailing, the ships arrived at Sydney Cove.

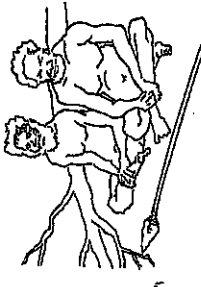

England continued to send convicts to Australia for many years.

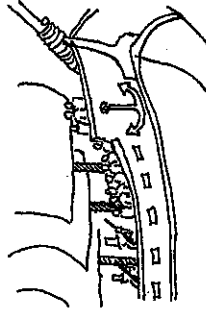

From Britain, eleven ships set sail for Australia.

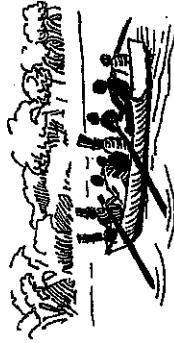

Life was hard at the convict settlement.
There was not enough food.
Many people became sick and died.

Also, many Aborigines became sick and died.

On board were 772 convicts, 206 marines, and other people too.

All the people went ashore to start their new lives.